TSC acquires Avwatch, 2 August 2021

TSC is pleased to announce the formal acquisition of Avwatch as of 2 August 2021. Avwatch is an innovative aviation company that has pioneered the use of new technologies in defense and homeland security operations both domestically and overseas. Their work and expertise span initial flight testing of new and emerging technologies to manufacturing mature hardware solutions for domestic and foreign partners.

“Avwatch is a trusted, mission-oriented company that we couldn’t be more proud to have join the TSC team as their culture of innovation and agility complements TSC while also offering proven operational expertise. Avwatch plays a critical role in TSC’s near term and future plans as we continue to grow and mature our portfolio of airborne solutions.”

-Brandon Wolfson, President/CEO of TSC

Avwatch maintains a fleet of aircraft for operational missions and support training as well as flight testing and demonstration support. Avwatch makes innovative products to augment their aircraft services, including the AERONet Assembly (designed to simplify MANET integrations into a variety of platforms) and the Mobile Tracking System (for extending air-to-ground, air-to-ship datalinks). As experienced field operators and innovators, they are particularly adept at working across multiple domains to provide mission solutions, services, rapid prototyping, and products leading to successful long term fielded solutions.

“We are excited to join the TSC team and build off one another’s strengths to continue to make a positive difference in our world.”

-Chris Kluckhuhn, CEO of Avwatch

Avwatch’s capabilities and offerings pair well with TSC’s existing ISR services programs and will help accelerate the growth for TSC’s manned ISR capabilities and products. Avwatch brings new maturity and capabilities to attack and grow opportunities.
